ECZEMA.

After Any further information concerning her case will be cheerfully given by herself at her residence, 135 Mullett street, or by me.

THE SPRECKELS VERDICT.

The San Francisco Chronicle expresses urprise at the verdict of the Spreckels ase. But between the lines it is apparent that Lake county, yesterday, by his brother, who to the Chronivle the verdiet was not wholly unexpected. This latter journal charges A case of genuine leprosy is reported from that there was communication with the jurors after their retiring, and that the pointment in Washington which had been jury was not properly guarded from approach, nor prevented from communicating with outsiders. There does not appear, nowever, from its own recital to be sufficient ground for even entertaining a suspicion that the jury was tampered with in its room, and that matter may be dismissed from consideration. The defense of Spreckels for shooting the Chronicle proprietor was self-defense, and such an abnormal condition of mind as to induce temporary insanity when affected by personal charges against his family. Upon the one or the other of these issues the jury must have passed. We believe that the jury chose the insanity defense as the basis for the verdict, though it did not so express itself, thereby justifying the inference that it acjuitted the defendant on the ground of elf-defense. While it is required that the reason shall be stated for the verdict, if it be for insanity, yet there is no power by which to reach the conscience of the juror if he declines to set forth the reason that sways his judgment. The public judgment is, and will remain, that the verdict was a rebuke to personal journalism. That is to say, the jury, by its verdict, has declared that the vicious methods and practices of personal journalsm, acting upon such a mind as that of preckels, produced a result which juster and creditable journalistic treatment of revenge on them, not the settlers. e subject involved would not have rought about, and that therefore the short, we repeat it is a verdict that, without flatly justifying an attempt to kill, in effect declares the act of the defendant to have been precisely what the journal should THE CALIFORNIA AND OREGON ROAD. peace and law alone should tread.
